August Commentary: by Rabbi Susan Warshaw

Debatable: Should We Require Dress Codes for a Shabbat Aliyah?

Recently in our congregation we have had a debate about dress codes for Shabbat aliyot. This article is from Reform Judaism Magazine (spring 2011) and addresses the issue. I thought it would be interesting to share it with the entire congregation.

YES—Dress to treat the Torah with respect: Don Levey

As Jews, we are very fortunate. The holiest day on our calendar comes every week: Shabbat. It is the time when we Reform Jews most often hear the Torah read, making it extra special. And being called to the bimah to chant the Torah blessings is perhaps the highest honor any of us will ever receive in our congregations.

And yet, sometimes individuals who receive this honor are dressed in a disrespectful manner. It is as if they forget that an aliyah is not only for themselves and for the congregation, but for all those who have come before us. So precious is the Torah that a b'nai mitzvah prayer reads: "It was carried in the arms of parents that their children might not be deprived of their birthright." Esau may have scorned his birthright, but we are the children of Israel.

Some of us contend that to remain fully inclusive and not drive anyone away, we should not impose a dress code of any kind. But some people have left precisely because they feel we do a disservice to Shabbat, Torah, and Judaism by failing to take a position on this issue.

I am not advocating that we legislate that men wear jackets and ties, and women blouses and skirts; nor do I propose that any dress code for Shabbat aliyot be instituted Movement-wide. But I believe that each congregation does need to set a minimum standard to ensure that the Torah is treated with honor and respect—particularly when we ascend the bimah for an aliyah. We rise as a congregation when the ark is opened, out of respect and honor. Is it too much to ask that we have the same respect as individuals?

Operation College

When our young adults are away at school at holiday times, they are not forgotten by their TBY family. Passover packages were mailed to our college students, sweet reminders of the popular family holiday.

Please send college addresses to sandiew2278@gmail.com, if you want your sons and daughters to receive an appropriate High Holiday Days surprise. We can only include those whose addresses you provide.

Upcoming Events

- The next congregational Shabbat dinner is scheduled for August 5, beginning at 6:30 p.m.. As usual, the cost is $8 per person. Please rsvp by Wednesday, August 3 to WarrenRosenfeldEsq@gmail.com, or to 240-447-1451. We have been averaging about 55 people per dinner and would love to see some of you that have yet to experience our ongoing, monthly Shabbat dinners at Temple Bat Yam.
- Temple Bat Yam Annual Picnic will be held Sunday, August 21, beginning at noon. As usual, there is no charge for this, but we are asking that all attendees consider buying some raffle tickets at the picnic to help defray the cost, while at the same time giving yourself a chance to win the prize of $1,000 cash. Also, in the hope of beating the heat and bugs and making it more comfortable for everyone this year, the food and eating tables will be set up INSIDE this year, although the cooking will be done outside. We hope to see everyone at this year's event. Please RSVP by August 16 to the TBY office so that we have an idea as to how many we should plan for.

More Upcoming Events

- Bus tour to Museum of American Jewish History. The Men's Club along with the Religious School and our Youth Group have made arrangements for a bus trip on Sunday, October 16, 2011 to visit this national treasure. We will make our first stop for a tour at one of the first synagogues established in colonial America: Congregation Mikveh Israel <http://www.mikvehisrael.org/> and its associated cemetery. The air conditioned coach will leave Temple Bat Yam at 7:30 A.M. A breakfast snack will be provided en route to Philadelphia. There will be a rest stop in Smyrna, DE and we'll arrive at Congregation Mikveh Israel at 10:45 A.M. After our tour of the synagogue and cemetery our group will recess for lunch. There are many nice eateries in the area and even a Jewish delicatessen. Many of the historic landmarks of colonial Philadelphia are nearby, and you will have ample time to visit them at your leisure. Our tour will resume when we gather at the National Museum of American Jewish History at 2:45 P.M. We'll spend the rest of the afternoon touring through the museum until it closes at 5:30 P.M. On our trip home we will stop for dinner at Arner's Restaurant <http://arnersrestaurant.com> in New Castle, DE. We'll arrive back at Temple Bat Yam at approximately 9:00 P.M. The charge for this trip which includes admission to the museum is $45.00 per person. For reservations please contact Larry Hecker maplarry@yahoo.com 302-524-1150 or Ed Wirkman edbythec@comcast.net 410-352-5607. Please make your checks payable to Men's Club of TBY. Deadline September 12, 2011. Thanks.
- Save The Date! The next inter-congregational event will be a Jewish music concert at the synagogue in Easton on Sunday, September 11 at 1:00. Carpools will be formed from the TBY parking lot so that all wishing to attend can do so. More information about this event will appear next week.
- Save the Date! Our annual Hal Glick Community Service Award Gala will take place this year on Saturday night, November 12, once again at the Clarion Hotel's Crystal Ballroom. The honoree this year is Leighton Moore, the owner of Seacrets, and a philanthropic force in and around Ocean City. Once again, TBY will be receiving a substantial portion of the net proceeds of this event, so we ask all who attended last year, and those that didn't, to please attend this year's event. Last year, TBY received $29,600 from the proceeds of this event. We hope to have a larger attendance and fundraising effort this year. For early sponsorship and table purchases, please contact either Jeff Thaler or Warren Rosenfeld of TBY.

President's Report

Tea Obreht, author of The Tiger's Wife, uses folklore and storytelling to help her main character, Natalia, absorb and deal with the loss of her Grandfather. Two tales within the novel, The Deathless Man and The Tiger's Wife, allow Natalia to process her loss and give the reader an understanding of how history and ritual play a role in spirituality and healing.

With Rabbi Warshaw in Israel working hard and taking full advantage of her fellowship at the Hartman Institute, our congregation was fortunate to have services conducted by Rabbi Berlin. Rabbi Berlin, (whose career includes time spent at Temple Oheb Shalom in Baltimore and as a chaplain at the VA hospital in Salem, VA), and his wife Norma live in Saint Michaels and were gracious enough to join us for services. Given that they'd been entertaining their grandchildren for the past couple of weeks their energy and enthusiasm for the evening's service was greatly appreciated.

Throughout the service Rabbi Berlin reminded us of the history of many of our Shabbat prayers, providing his own perspective and connecting the congregation to the centuries of poetry and storytelling that help craft our Shabbat services.

The upcoming months will include many Temple Bat Yam traditions. I hope you will join us for our annual barbecue on August 21st from 12-4. Please contact the temple office to RSVP. This event is a great opportunity to socialize with your fellow congregants or better yet it's a chance for you to introduce someone new to TBY. On August 5th I hope you'll engage in what's become a large part of temple life and attend the congregational Shabbat dinner. Although somewhat further in the future, Buddy Seigel, Rabbi Warshaw, Cheryl Taustin and Phyllis Alpern and the High Holy Days committee have been working hard on designing meaningful worship services. The holidays fall on a weekend this year and I'm happy to report that through the efforts of Doris Mitnick and Grayce Cohen, with the help of Dr. Berger, that we will be breaking the fast at the Clarion this year. Many thanks to Buddy and his committee for all the planning and efforts that go into making our High Holy Days the highlight of our spiritual year.

Although not centuries old, Temple Bat Yam has a history of its own. I would like to offer continued thanks to the Bell and Leiner families for their continued support of the Rabbi Sternberger Memorial Garden. Our Rabbi Emeritus was such an integral part of TBY's beginning it's only fitting that a garden in his name welcome visitors to the temple.

As we end one religious year and begin another it seems a good time to reflect on not only the traditions that have served TBY well in the past but also on some of the new elements of congregational life. Our Shabbat dinners, expanded adult-ed, and thriving men's club and sisterhood are all aspects of temple life that have flourished over the past several years. This also seems like a good time to thank some of our outgoing committee chairs and welcome new ones. Thanks to Dolores Pack who will be turning over the responsibilities of public relations and advertising to Stephanie Cohen.

NO—Clothes don't make the man spiritual. Rick Blumenthal

In my temple there is no dress code, and I am relieved. Many a Friday, after a long day of work, my family and I have a Shabbat meal and we go to temple. Slacks (occasionally jeans), a polo shirt, and sandals are my typical attire. Since I am comfortable in my clothes, I am able to focus on why I am at temple, not how much my feet hurt or what a schlep it was to hurry home and get changed. I relax and try to get in tune with my spirituality, rethinking what I could have done better this week and letting the prayers and songs fill me up.

If I know ahead of time that I am being called to the bimah for an aliyah, I usually wear shoes and put on my tallit, but if I'm called upon to open the ark while wearing sandals, I ask myself, what would Moses do (WWMD), and accept the honor. After all, did he wear a tie and jacket? Did God like Moses any less for praying in sandals?

To those Jews who feel that I am distracting worshipers by dressing down, I say, "Spirituality needs to start from within and work its way out." And to those who want to legislate what we wear in temple, I ask, "What about other potential distractions, such as strong perfumes or ostentatious dress with jewels galore?"

I prefer to focus on the things I have in common with my fellow congregants—the rich heritage of Judaism that has survived so many attempts to destroy it; the belief in one God and in peace, community service, shared life cycle events, and friendships.

So if you see me on Shabbat in jeans and sandals, wish me "Shabbat Shalom." I will wish you the same, regardless of what you are wearing.

Temple Bat Yam—what are your thoughts? Let us know. Enjoy those last days of summer!

Rabbi Warshaw

Many thanks to George Rosenstock; after many years of chairing the House Committee, he will be handing the reigns to Steve Scheiber. Thanks also to Rina Thaler who will be passing on the responsibilities of Adult Jewish Growth to Dana Rosenfeld and will be our first Community Outreach chair.

Lastly, many thanks to Steve Cohen and Kerry Case for their creativity and willingness to publish our monthly newsletter. After well over a decade of hard work Jeannette Abrams remains on staff as Editor Emeritus.

As I mentioned last month – there's a place for you at Temple Bat Yam. Whether you choose to embrace something new or become engaged in a TBY tradition that is just new to you become involved.

I hope to see you all at our annual barbecue later this month.

Until then-

Sisterhood Happenings

Shalom All,

The summer months are so busy for many of us. Children, grandchildren and friends visit us and our homes seem to feel like they are a B & B! The washing machine is about to rebel with all of the extra towels. So, we go from the hectic summer months into another equally busy season. The season of our high holy days and all that goes around preparing for them. For me, while it is full of preparation it seems to be less hectic and more of a quiet voice within moving me forward.

I would like to remind you of a few things that will be happening the next few months as far as Sisterhood goes. The Judaica Shop is having a sale through the end of August. There are a few exclusions but most everything is 20% of the marked price. There are lovely greeting cards for the high holy days that are priced really well. We would like to make room for new stock. If you have any items that you would like to see in the shop or want to special order an item please speak to Bette Bohlmann. The shop is open for 30 minutes before Shabbat service most Fridays. Purchases may be made during the day by contacting Jamie.

Plan on joining us for Shabbat service on August 26th when the DelMarVa Chorus will be singing after the service. We have three members in the chorus: Phyllis Alpern, Bette Bohlmann and me, Candy Gusst. Listening to the chorus is just a delightful experience.

Helene Caplan has made arrangement for us again to see a show at Salisbury University on Saturday, November 19th. This year it is a comedy, Servant of Two. Tickets will sell for $12 each. We will car pool with people that may need a ride and a reservation for dinner will be made for those that are interested. More information will follow.

There is a tentative date for the GAME PARTY of November 14th. Start thinking about getting your group together to play Mah Jongg, cards, Scrabble or whatever game you enjoy. In years past we had a wonderful time! If you would like to work on this project please contact me.

Please keep in mind that Sisterhood is available to create a special Oneg to celebrate a special occasion for you. For more information contact Candy Gusst, Bette Bohlmann or Marsha Rosenstock.

And lastly, you can see how very important it is to join the Sisterhood. We have so many activities and offerings. Now only will you be investing in yourself, you are investing in the Sisterhood and the Temple. For just double chi, $36 you can join us. We welcome you.

Be well, Candy

Temple Bat Yam 2011-2012 Calendar

The Sisterhood of Temple Bat Yam produces the only Jewish calendar on the Eastern Shore. Last year the community and the congregation were very supportive. We raised a record amount of dollars to help support our Temple and Sisterhood programs, including the scholarship awarded to High School Seniors.

Please refer to the attached page for ways in which you can be included in this effort.

A perfect way to send your local friends a New Year Greeting is to purchase an $18 business card size holiday greeting. Or, you can have your name included in a greeting line list for just $8. You can also list as many birthdays, anniversaries, yahrzeits or other special occasions as you wish, for just $8, each.

We plan to have the calendar ready to distribute by Rosh Hashanah on September 28, 2011

Thank you for your support of this project.

The library at TBY is alive and prospering! Yes, you read that right.

The library crew met on July 18. After Grace announced that she would retire as our chairperson, Dana Rosenfeld stepped up to that position. L'dor v'dor. We look forward to having Grace as a resource and Dana as our new idea leader.

Besides maintaining our book collection the library crew organizes and sponsors the Bagels and Books events. This year we will institute a theme bases series of book reviews, "Getting to Know You". Names and faces of our congregants may be familiar to you. Now, we will invite you to tell us about the persons behind the face. For example, we have members who worked for the Foreign Service. Wouldn't you like to hear their exploits? The library committee will suggest related reading materials and invite those members to share his and her stories.

Another example, we have members who were raised in the New York tenements. Relevant books on those circumstances will be available and the members will tell us about their experiences. Do you have a connection to the sports world, the entertainment field, politics or science? We will have appropriate books for our members to read before your sharing. We are combining reading with getting to know our TBY family.

During our July meeting we also discussed several ways to increase use of our library. Watch for flyers promoting our library. Hilda Plisko has accepted responsibility for this endeavor. In addition, we decided that updating our children's youth, and adult collections was a perfect way to use the donations we have already received. Janice Speiler is preparing a list of new purchases. If you would like us to include your personal choices please contact Janice at 401-460-6111. If you want to honor someone or some special occasion, why not donate to the library. A book will be purchases denoting your wishes.

We made plans to coordinate with the Religious School staff and support their efforts and curriculum needs.

How's that for a library that's ALIVE AND WORKING.

Winner of "Basket of Cheer"

Melinda Alderfer was declared the winner of the Men's Club Basket of Cheer on June 12, 2011. The winning ticket was drawn that afternoon at the Ocean City Car Show in Ocean City MD. We thank Jamie, our office manager, for selling the winning ticket. In addition, the Men's Club thanks ALL ticket sellers – members and friends of the Men's Club – and Bert Nestler who donated its contents.

Food Lion Cards

Thanks again to everyone for purchasing Food Lion Gift Cards. This is by far the men's Club major on-going fund raising program and it needs support from new participants. It allows the Men's Club to make its annual donation to the Temple, to the youth group and support the various other efforts. We encourage others who shop at Food Lion -- and I know that's many of us -- to prepay your shopping with the purchase of the Food Lion cards. See George Rosenstock who always has a stock of cards with him.

First aid -- AED seminar

In the next few weeks, the Men's Club will coordinate a First Aid-AED training event. All members, staff and friends will be invited to participate; the cost to cover materials and the licensed trainer's time will be $15.00 per person. Certificates of completion will be awarded. Watch the TBY news for the date.

Museum of American Jewish History

On October 16th, the Religious School, Youth Group and Men's Club will host the Temple bus trip of the year...to the Museum of American Jewish History in Philadelphia. Deadline for registration is September 12. See the article elsewhere in this newsletter for more information.

Next Men's Club meeting – October 9th

Our next meeting will take place on October 9 at the Temple. We are giving our members the summer off for good behavior. Topic and Speaker is being planned, so "stay tuned".

NEW MEMBERS SOLICITED:

The Men's Club encourages all eligible members to join us. Contact Larry Hecker, President at maplarry@yahoo.com or 302 524 1150 for an application and to answer any questions.

Mitzvah Day: Home of Brave Letter

Dear members of Temple Bat Yam,

It was such a pleasure to have the opportunity to meet so many of you and share the story of Home of the Brave! Your warmth, interest + suggestions were so wonderful - I can't thank you enough! The donations were perfect - I have some of them already set for the next family to use when they arrive on Monday. Thank you also for the little stuffed animals - they will make a special welcome present for the little ones that come to visit.

The support of our community - of special people like you - is evident to all the guests. They see the special touches - like a toy for their kids, cookies when they arrive, gift certificates for canoe trips ... all the things that let them know there are a whole lot of people who appreciate their service and their sacrifice.

Thank you for all you do for our military and for our whole community. Your Mitzvah Service blesses so many people and is a beautiful reminder of God's love for each of us.

Sincerely,

Tina Pearson

Dear Members of Temple Bat Yam,

The support of Temple Bat Yam is greatly appreciated. Thank you for your generous gift of $75.00 to the Volunteers of Deer's Head, Inc. This donation and the personal contact provided by some of the temple members made this year's July birthday celebration a special occasion for the patients and residents at the Deer's Head Hospital Center.

You have helped in many ways; with donations of clothing, books, magazines, movies, calendars, and cards made throughout the year as well as yearly sponsoring one of the monthly birthday parties. Once again, thank you for your continuing support.

Sincerely,

Myra Novick, Corresponding Secretary
Volunteers of Deer's Head Hospital, Inc.
